

The EMF Balancing Technique®

The SESSIONS – Phases IX-XII

Freedom! In the energy of Love – the Emerging Evolutionary

These Phases incorporate a unique approach which enables you to become your own co-creator, activating your own Universal Calibration Lattice and using conscious awareness to move through the understanding that the UCL is a consciousness container - in fact that what we resonate, we co-create with the rest of the universe surrounding us! At a less multi-dimensional level, these Phases may perhaps enable us to smile more.

In each session, you will experience a heightened state of awareness where new connections can be sensed and incorporated into what will be your new reality. Sessions IX-XII normally last between 45 minutes to 1 hour per session. These Phases are more active in many ways than the earlier sessions, so the Client is seated, as is the Practitioner.

These sessions focus upon a further evolution of consciousness, embracing the archetypes of all forms of relationship. They increase your ability to observe your relationships introspectively and discern the dynamics without judgment, increasing harmony and peace within your daily life.

Twenty-four further octahedron-shaped sacred templates in total are activated during these sessions. All of the work experienced here will introduce you to quantum concepts which can be accessed with linear thinking!

The Universal Human – Phase IX

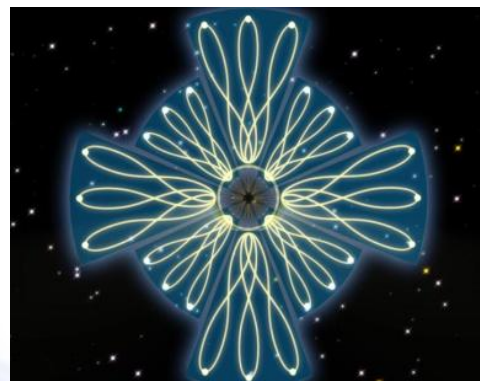

During this session you will learn how to manage your energy and energy charges and be able to organize and move into a reality that is increasingly of your choice.

- ✿ We take time to discover what co-creation means to you and then introduce you to the concept of the ‘third’ or relationship lattice using discussion and viewing a DVD.
- ✿ You create your own Third Lattice Chart (or TLC) as a focus for the co-creative energies of the session. Essentially, you choose the relationship you wish to work with during the session. A relationship can be with a person, or a concept (e.g. my job, my health), thing (e.g. my house, my car), other connection (my pet), or anything or anyone with which or whom you share a relationship, or wish to create relationship with! You can use the attributes of Mastery from Phases V-VIII to help you define the new calibrations within this relationship if you wish, or use the attributes that come up for you at the time of the session.
- ✿ You will then be guided through the session by your practitioner, who will show you specific hand postures to use during the session in order to increase the resonance, and move you through a process whereby you learn to manage and move the energy charges contained within your Universal Calibration Lattice, or UCL in order to recalibrate with your chosen relationship lattice. Should you wish to change or add attributes to your Third Lattice Chart during the session, time is made available for this.

The Universal Parent(s) – Phase X

During this session you will continue to practice how to manage your energy and energy charges and be able to organize and move into a reality that is increasingly of your choice. This session focuses specifically on your relationship with the archetype of the Universal Parent(s).

- * We take time to review what co-creation means to you and then view a further animation of the Universal Calibration Lattice, or UCL. Note the picture on the right which shows a view of the UCL from the top down, or in fact it could also be from below to above...as above, so below!
- * You create your own Third Lattice Chart (or TLC) as a focus for the co-creative energies of this session and in order for you to choose the dynamics of parenting that you would like to work with and develop. You can use the attributes of Mastery from Phases V-VIII to help you define the new calibrations within this relationship if you wish, or use the attributes that come up for you at the time of the session.
- * You will then be guided through the session by your practitioner, who will show you specific hand postures to use during the session in order to increase the resonance. This session introduces you to the concept of uniting the Universal Mother and Father energies, or archetypes, in order to ground yourself and support yourself deeply in the here and now.

The Universal Partner – Phase XI

During this session you will further practice the mastery of how to manage your energy and energy charges. This session relates specifically to your relationship with the archetype of the Universal Partner, essentially your own inner partnership with yourself and the universe. The previous session has enabled you to unite the Male and Female energies in order to bring about this next step.

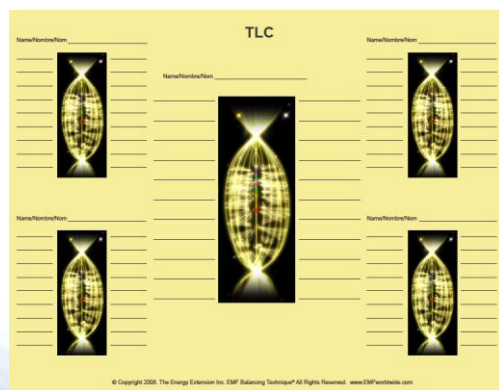

- * We take time to review what co-creation means to you and continue to work with the concept of the ‘third’ or relationship lattice.
- * You create your own Third Lattice Chart (or TLC) as a focus for the co-creative energies of the session and in order for you to focus upon the dynamics that will generate the energetic posture of your own Universal Partner. You can use the attributes of Mastery from Phases V-VIII to help you define the new calibrations within this relationship if you wish, or use the attributes that come up for you at the time of the session.
- * You will then be guided through the session by your practitioner, who will show you specific hand postures to use during the session in order to increase the resonance. This session enables you to achieve a new level of balance where the Male/Female Father/Mother energies unite and create new facets of self-direction and self-support within your core.

The EMF Balancing Technique®

The Emerging Evolutionary – Phase XII

During this session you will further practice the mastery of how to manage your energy and energy charges. This session focuses specifically upon co-creating the dynamics of evolution by uniting the energies of your Individual 'I' with your Infinite 'I'. A Master in Practice is always practicing...an Emerging Evolutionary is always emerging!

- ✿ We take time to review what co-creation means to you and continue to work with the concept of the 'third' or relationship lattice.
- ✿ You create your own Third Lattice Chart (or TLC) as a focus for the co-creative energies of the session and in order for you to focus upon the dynamics that will generate the energetic posture of yourself as an Emerging Evolutionary. You can use the attributes of Mastery from Phases V-VIII to help you define the new calibrations within this relationship if you wish, or use the attributes that come up for you at the time of the session.
- ✿ You will then be guided through the session by your practitioner, who will show you specific hand postures to use during the session in order to increase the resonance. This session commences your journey through the understanding that you can translate the energies of the Infinite 'I' into useable information for daily life.

I honor you, and the unlimited potential within you.
